Take a journey through frontier country from Normanton to Croydon as you step aboard the iconic Gulflander. Also known as the 'Tin Hare', this legendary rail motor is one of the last great characters of the rail world.

Affectionately said to go from 'nowhere to nowhere', the Heritage Listed Normanton to Croydon line was never connected to the state rail network and remains the only line in Queensland still measured in miles. Originally built to connect the once bustling river port of

Visit Karumba's Barramundi Discovery Centre or try your luck on a fishing tour

In Croydon, stop at Queensland's longest continuous running general store which began operating in 1894

Normanton with the rich goldfields of Croydon, today much of the line is still the original rail and sleepers laid between 1888 and 1891. The line was laid in a way not found anywhere else in the world. The innovative sleeper design allows seasonal flood waters to flow over the line with minimal impact.

From wetlands and grasslands to arid Savannah territory, the Gulflander travels through countryside that most people will never see. This nostalgic rail journey is the perfect way to discover an area steeped in pioneering history and heritage. Normanton was the port for the Croydon Gold Rush and is a terminus of the Normanton Railway Station which features preserved Victorian architecture. Just 30 kilometres south west of Normanton is camp 119, Burke and Wills' most northerly camp. Croydon is a small town with a big history which started with the discovery of gold in 1885. With Barramundi fishing year round, Lake Belmore is located just four kilometres from Croydon.

As the Gulflander only carries a small number of passengers, you will experience a friendly atmosphere which adds to the charm. Enjoy morning tea en route as the on board accredited Savannah Guides keep you entertained with trivia, species identification, amusing stories and colourful characters.

As a working tribute to the Gulf of Carpentaria's early pioneers, the Gulflander is a once in a lifetime experience.

Accommodation, Transfers & Tours

Accommodation included in holiday packages is subject to availability. If the accommodation featured is not available for your chosen travel dates, it may be substituted. Some Accommodation Suppliers provide courtesy transfers to/from the airport. It is essential that these transfers are pre-booked. Some Tour Suppliers provide complimentary pick up and return to your holiday accommodation and require a minimum number of passengers to operate. If minimum numbers are not achieved tours may be cancelled at short notice. Additionally, some Suppliers reserve the right to cancel departures for other reasons, including bad weather.
